5. ARE YOU (1) A NATIVE OF THE UNITED STATES; (2) A NATURALIZED CITIZEN; (3) A NATURAL ALIEN; (4) HAVE YOU DECLARED YOUR INTENTION TO BECOME A CITIZEN; (5) OR ARE YOU A CITIZEN OR NON-CITIZEN INDIAN? (SPECIFY WHICH.)

(1) If you were born in the United States, including Alaska and Hawaii, you are a native of the United States, no matter what may have been the citizenship or nationality of your parents. Any inhabitant of Porto Rico on April 11, 1899, and who resided in Porto Rico on that date, and continued to reside there until April 11, 1900, is held to be a citizen of Porto Rico, except such inhabitants, natives of the Spanish peninsula, who elected to preserve their allegiance to Spain on April 11, 1900, making a record of their decision to do so. Any citizen of Porto Rico, as above defined, and any native of Porto Rico who was temporarily absent from the island on April 11, 1899, and has since returned, and is not a citizen of any foreign country, is held to be a citizen of the United States, provided that he did not make a declaration of his intention to retain his political status by making a declaration under oath of his intention to do so within six months after March 2, 1901. If you have been abroad you are still a citizen of the United States if your father was a citizen of the United States at the time you were born, unless you have renounced yourself.

(2) You are a naturalized citizen if you have completed your naturalization; that is, if you have "taken final papers." But in no case will you be held to have declared your intention (that is, if you have only "taken out first papers"); in the latter case you are only a declared citizen.

(3) You are also a naturalized citizen if, although your father was not a naturalized citizen, you were under 21 years of age, and if you were under 21 years of age at the time you attained the age of 21.

(4) You are a declared citizen, although a citizen or subject of some other country, if you have declared before a naturalization court your intention to become a citizen of the United States. Receipt from the clerk of the court of the certified copy of such declaration is often called "taking out first papers."

(5) An Indian is a citizen if (1) he, or his father or mother, prior to his birth or before he attained the age of 21, was allotted prior to May 1, 1906; (2) if he is an allotted subsequent to May 1, 1906, and received a patent in fee to his land; (3) if he was residing in the United States prior to May 1, 1906, and if he has since adopted the habits of civilized life.

(6) You are an alien if you do not fall within one of the four classes above mentioned.

6. IF NOT A CITIZEN, OF WHAT NATION ARE YOU A CITIZEN OR SUBJECT? This must be answered only by alien and declarant. Remember that a "declarant" is not yet a citizen of the United States. If an alien or declarant, state the name of your country of birth, "Great Britain," "Germany," etc.

7. FATHER'S BIRTHPLACE. First name the city, then the nation, as "Columbus, Ohio," "Vienna, Austria," "Paris, France," "Sofia, Bulgaria."

8. NAME OF EMPLOYER, PLACE OF EMPLOYMENT. If you are working for an individual, firm, corporation, or association, state its name. If in business, trade, profession, or employment for yourself, state, if you are an officer of the state or federal government, say whether your office is under the United States, the state, county, or a municipality. In answer to the question as to the place of employment, give the number and name of the street, town, county, and state, or P. O. number, post office, county, and state, where you work.

9. NAME AND ADDRESS OF NEAREST RELATIVE. If you are married and your wife is living, her name should be stated. If you are single, or your wife is dead, you should state the name of your nearest blood relative. In stating the address, give the number and name of the street, first, city or town, then county, state, or P. O. number, post office, county, and state, where you work.

10. RACE. WHITE, NEGRO, INDIAN, OR ORIENTAL. No explanation necessary.

Cuckoo Superstition.

In some parts of England, when the first note of the cuckoo is heard in the woods, every village girl asks the question, "Cuckoo! Cuckoo! When shall I be married?" The bird, in answer, is supposed to sound as many notes as years will elapse before the happy event takes place.

ARGUMENTS FEATURE OF COUNCIL MEETING

HEATED ARGUMENT BETWEEN ALDERMAN HORN AND ALDERMAN WELSH IN REGARD TO CONSOLIDATING FIRE STATIONS ENLIVEN MEETING.

PLACE BAN ON MUSIC

Ordinance Passed Prohibiting Music of Any Kind in Places Where Intoxicating Liquors Are Sold.

Whether the consolidation of the two down town fire stations, one on North Main street and one on North River, is finally affected, with the street structure abandoned as a fire station, will doubtless be settled later, but the preliminary round of the battle royal, pro and con, was fought out last night at the regular session of the common council. It was an interesting and heated debate that occurred when Alderman Horn introduced his resolution which would tend to the consolidation of the two stations and Alderman Welsh opposed the measure. Alderman J. J. Dulin was the president officer, Mayor Sch. R. W. S. G. in consideration of the matter.

Then there was the question of the payment for paving between the rails of the street railway lines and the possibility of an order being made that the street railway company to stop its cars north of Milwaukee and Main street corners. That also brought out a discussion.

It was also decided to purchase a street flushing machine and a power mower for the city parks. The council also appropriated $400 to the company fund of Co. G of the city, in consideration of the fact that the officers of that company continue the supervision and furnish the drill hall for the high school cadets.

In fact, the Monday evening meeting was a most interesting and instructive one. The members of the council showed direct evidence of being most thoroughly in earnest in the matter of the city and while the discussions were heated in some cases, a thorough discussion of the matters under consideration was valuable.

Mr. H. Dougherty, attorney for the Janesville Traction Co., appeared before the council after the reading of the minutes and in a short talk outlined the financial condition of the local street car company. Mr. Dougherty was there arguing the absurdity of the city compelling the street car company to pay for the paving of the tracks. The reason advanced for the movement being that the congested condition at the corner of Main and Milwaukee streets at times is dangerous to the safety of the street.

It was pointed out to the council and to the attorney for the Janesville Traction company that it would greatly benefit the city if the street car company moved to a place on North Main street north of Milwaukee street. W. H. Dougherty in answering stated that in an order to move the street car company would be more than willing to move the ticket station.

A recess of five minutes was then taken in order to let the different petitions presented them. At the opening of the meeting after the recess it was ordered that the auditor's report of the financial condition of the city of Janesville for 1912 be put on file. The reports of the health officer and the municipal court were received and placed on file.

After a short debate as to the advisability of purchasing a street flusher and sprinkler it was decided to purchase one. City Clerk James B. Worthington was ordered to advertise for bids on the same.

Alderman James True moved that the committee on parks be ordered to purchase a power lawn mower for the parks. The motion was carried and the motion was passed, all voting in favor of it.

Alderman Welsh then moved that the city clerk be directed to purchase four cars of stone for street work. The motion was adopted. Alderman Welsh also moved that the city clerk be directed to purchase one car of road oil. The motion was adopted.

absolute necessity for saving at the present time.

Alderman Welsh was immediately on his feet and he bitterly opposed the measure. He used as his argument that it would be impossible as well as impracticable to readjust the west side fire station in order that it could accommodate the men operating the same. Alderman True also told the council of the necessity of having a station on the east side and stated that he would not vote for a consolidation.

The argument became quite heated at times and was by far the most spirited contest that has taken place in the council chambers since the organization of the new council. Alderman Horn again took the floor and spoke for a few minutes outlining the plan of consolidation and endeavoring to increase the size of the station. The absolute necessity of combining the two stations.

Alderman Horn stated that at this time efficiency was what was needed in every city and that the only way efficiency could be had in this city in regard to the fire department was to consolidate the two stations. The motion was carried by the council. Alderman Welsh and Alderman Horn voted against it.

After the question of consolidating the two fire stations was finally settled, Alderman Welsh moved that the street policeman at the corner of Milwaukee and River street be moved as it interfered with the work of the fire department.

The order was finally passed after another argument with Alderman Welsh and Dulin voting against it.

Alderman Paulz made a motion that the report of the plumbing inspector be accepted and placed on file. This motion was carried, all voting aye.

Alderman Welsh then moved that the city council make an appropriation of $400 a year to Co. G, 8th Regiment, for educational purposes for the students of the high school, to be paid from the school fund.

Captain David Atwood of the G was sent for and appeared before the council. Captain Atwood outlined the work of Co. G and told the members of the council the necessity for an allowance to assist them in carrying out the military work of the high school pupils.

The appropriation was ordered, all of the aldermen voting in favor of it.

An ordinance was introduced prohibiting music of any kind in saloons and other places where spirituous liquors are sold. The ordinance puts a ban on music of any kind, including piano, victrola or entertainment of any kind.

On motion of Alderman Welsh the rules of the council were suspended and the ordinance was read and passed, and all of the aldermen voting aye.

The council adjourned on motion of Alderman Welsh.

THRIFT STAMP DRIVE OPENS TOMORROW

Same Organization as Handled the Last Liberty Loan Campaign

Will Have Charge—Jamesville's Quota Is $350,000

A thrift stamp campaign in which Janesville is to raise $350,000 will open in the city tomorrow. Secretary of Treasury, McAdoo, in a letter to A. P. Lovejoy has requested that the stamp drive be handled by the last Liberty loan campaign. Mr. Lovejoy has complied with the request and will act as chairman of the Janesville committee. M. G. Jeffis will be chairman of the county committee and A. E. Matheson will be chairman of the publicity committee. The campaign is set at $1,500,000 and the campaign closes on June 25th. In the thrift stamp campaign a purchaser can only purchase $1.00 worth of stamps and will mean that a great deal more subscribers will have to be secured to put the campaign over the top.

It is the desire of A. P. Lovejoy to have Janesville again go over the top in the same style as they did in the Liberty loan campaign which has just closed.

BOYS WHO REGISTER TOMORROW WILL BE HONORED BY LADIES

Each Will Be Given Badge by City Federation of Women—Federation Takes Out Chamber of Commerce Membership.

Badges have been provided by the board of the City Federation for the boys of draft age who are to register tomorrow. They are of white ribbon with a suitable inscription printed upon them. And ladies from the various organizations are to take turns in being at the registration booth in the post office and pinning the badges on the boys when they register.

Miss Mabel Freeman is in charge of the committee of women who are to serve at the polling booth. These plans were made at a meeting of the board of the City Federation held on yesterday morning at the City Federation building.

The board also voted to take out a membership in the new Chamber of Commerce. The question of service welfare work for the city was presented to the board by Sidney Bostwick, who urged cooperation between the women and the City Federation. Active work along the lines adopted by the organization was pledged by the ladies of the board, and a committee of five will formulate plans for broadening the undertaking.

As the City Federation owns some property it was decided to give time ago with the state, and at yesterday's meeting these articles were brought up for discussion, and voted to be satisfactory.

The chairman of the Civics committee made a report of the work being done in the city in weighing the children and stated that the City Federation was providing for the different school buildings to do the weighing and clerical work. She also reported that a public meeting would be held in the city by the City Federation of Defense on June 12th, when Miss Connelly will speak on food conservation.

Reports of the treasurer, Mrs. Murdoch, and of the secretary, Mrs. Atwood, were heard and other routine business transacted.

TWO APPLICATIONS RECEIVED FOR CALL

June 7th Last Date on Which Men Can List Themselves to Receive Intensive Mechanical Training.

Applications from registrants with mechanical experience who desire to be sent to Beloit college for intensive mechanical training are not being received at the office of the local board as fast as expected. This morning only two men had listed themselves. The closing date for volunteer enlistments is June 7th. After that date enough men to fill the call will be inducted into the service. The quota for the coming year is 100 men and if only two applications have been received it is not expected that it will be necessary to draft any men to fill the quota.

JUDGE BECKER HELD UNDER HEAVY BAIL BY FEDERAL COURT

Monroe Judge Indicted in U. S. Court as a Violator of Espionage Act. Attorney Jackman Named as Defender.

John M. Becker, Monroe, for twenty years judge of the Green County probate court, appeared before United States Judge A. L. Sanborn shortly before noon yesterday, as was announced in last evening's issue of the Gazette, and pleaded not guilty to the charges of violating Section three of the Espionage Act. He was placed under $5,000 bond.

An indictment from the federal grand jury at Superior, alleges in eight counts that Judge Becker made disloyal utterances, conveyed false reports and attempted to cause mutiny and refusal of duty in the military and naval forces of the United States. The penalty provides a fine up to $10,000 or imprisonment up to 20 years, or both.

Drops from Race.
"Are you still a candidate for governor?" queried United States Judge Sanborn when the defendant was ready to plead.

"No, sir," replied Judge Becker, who is an ardent La Follette supporter, quickly.

He declared on leaving the court that illness of his wife and other members of the family necessitated giving up the race for governor some months ago. "I would prefer having the official matter left 'gilt,' he added.

Judge Becker asked for a trial in Madison stating it would accommodate great numbers of witnesses and that he was arrested early in the morning and brought directly to the federal building at Madison by Deputy United States Marshal Will Tuck.

Superior indictments were made today in the arraignment of nineteen persons. More offenses will be taken into court this afternoon.

Defender Named.
Becker's case was put into the hands of Attorney Ralph W. Jackman of Madison. The indictment produced by U. S. District Attorney C. Wolfe, who came from Superior for the arraignment, charges Becker on June 5, 1917, before the Green county board of supervisors and before the board of the County Council of Defense, made disloyal utterances in a public speech his alleged utterances are:

"The idea of having an administration of food and fuel is ridiculous. There is no shortage of food. It is preached by agents employed by the corporations for their own gain going around the country on high paid salaries."

"This is a rich man's war. We won't have peace as long as these high paid fellows are in the street."

"There is no labor shortage."

Auditors Mentioned.
Becker is also alleged to have told persons at once that the farmers should beware of war taxes. Mentioned as auditors of Becker's remarks are P. J. Weirich, H. W. Johnson, Frank Luchsinger, P. F. Johnson, members of the county board, Henry Burg, Ray Young, Edward Furnham and Mrs. Fred Duchow.

The principal allegations are that the judge has made and conveyed certain false reports and attempted to cause insubordination, disloyalty, mutiny, and refusal of duty in the military and naval forces.

A Similar Case.
This, federal authorities declare, is the most important of 145 indictments just returned at Superior, half of which relate to war matter and the other half to the new espionage act, the selective service act and the trading with the enemy act.

The Becker case is similar to that of Louis B. Nagler, former assistant secretary of the court, who was indicted for alleged disloyal remarks about the Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A. Nagler will probably go on trial in July.

WILL HOLD ELECTION SMOKER AT THEATRE; BIG CROWD EXPECTED

Monster Get-Together Meeting Will Be Staged at Myers Theatre This Evening.—C. E. Woodward Will Speak.

Everything is in readiness for the big meeting tonight. A member that goes the meeting tonight will be sorry when he talks with his friends tomorrow. Of course, it is impossible for everyone to be there, but those who can possibly make arrangements should postpone their meetings tonight for this one big get-together smoker. Since it is an election smoker, the members of the association should be present, but in the very near future there will be a meeting of the entire membership when not only the ladies members will be invited but the wives of the members.

One of the important features which has not been announced up to this time is the singing of some of the patriotic and campaign songs led by Robert Dalley. One of the most inspirational parts of any meeting is the singing. That end of the program will be carried out to the fullest extent.

C. E. Woodward arrived in town today and will be on hand tonight.

The election judges and tellers will meet at 7:30 o'clock and the election will be held at 8 o'clock. The election will be held at 8 o'clock.

If a member of the Chamber of Commerce has a friend whom he would like to have attend the smoker he will be welcome but, of course, should take no part in the business session. The Myers theatre will be at 8:00 o'clock tonight.

HUNS BALKED IN ATTEMPT TO ADVANCE

No Further Advance.

The Germans have made a further advance at one point between the village of Quercy, capturing the village of Nully la Poterie (seven and one-half miles northwest of Chateau-Chierry).

People Laud French.

The success of French high command in getting artillery to the front at points in the path of the advancing Germans was the subject of satisfied comment in the lobby of Chamber of Deputies last night. The Germans did not expect to encounter this concentration of guns and when they tried to advance and ran in the path of French artillery, they suffered a terrible loss. The Matin reports, in yesterday's talk to the army committee, that the French had captured the village of Nully la Poterie and that the intensity of which he had been making its advance strongly felt.

American Troops Resist.

American troops thrown into the battle at the western side of the champagne salient, have stopped the German advance near Nully wood and in the dashing counter-attacks had thrown back the Germans to their original position today. On the Marne front German troops which had forced a passage of the river were driven back again by French and American troops.

The battle continues with the greatest violence between the Aisne and Quercy. The Germans captured Peronne, France, south of the French line a little ground. The Germans made a further advance and captured the town of Nully la Poterie.

London—German artillery developed considerable activity between Albert on the front above Amiens. The first batch of American wounded soldiers arrived at Amiens today. They were sent to the American hospitals today.

With the American Army in France a combat patrol in the French line engaged with a German patrol in a desperate battle near Anter Viller. In the Lunville sector the losses on the American side were slight. The Germans were surprised by an overwhelming number but fought bravely and inflicted severe punishment on the enemy.

Paris—The French stopped the German drive it may now be safe to say. When the offensive began it lasted only eight days. It is now breaking up in a series of small battles. On the northern part of the line, in the Villers-Bretonneux, and off the south the Germans are anxiously watching. Both of these hill positions are held by the Germans.

Paris—The German advance seems to be with the idea of taking Paris. The enemy is endeavoring every way possible to capture the French capital.

Refugees Storm Paris.

All the refugees were hungry. Red Cross helped them. They were taken to temporary headquarters and gave bread and visited by the minister of the Interior. The refugees also established a canteen where troops on the way to the front may stop.

Stop Advance.

bombing operations and accounted for 22 enemy airplanes. Heavy artillery northwest of Toul, but no infantry action in aerial combat. There was another German machine brought down. Another patrol east of Lunville, France, suffered only slight losses. FIGHTING HAD ON. On the Amiens battle front the Germans have been stopped by the resistance of the French, while on Monday the French gained in small raids on the Western front. The offensive is turning a series of battles for an important position. Between Villers-Bretonneux and the Germans are making efforts to drive off the French. The Germans and French troops are fighting slightly. North of the Amiens the French captured Cauchy again. Elsewhere on the line between Albert and Noyon has been repulsed.

AMERICANS IN BATTLE.—American troops are fighting with French in holding up new German rush and already have begun to make their presence strongly felt. One force of Americans thrown into the battle between the French artillery and stopped an enemy advance into Nully wood between seven and eight miles northwest of Chateau Chery, but carried off with the French official statement characterizes a magnificent counter attack which threw back Germans north of this wood.

HUNS DRIVEN BACK.—On yet another front, that running east and west along the Marne, the American forces co-operated with French, driving back a German battalion which had crept over a foot bridge on the south bank of the river. The Germans sustained heavy casualties and lost 100 prisoners. The Germans had evidently succeeded in bringing up more of their heavy artillery and attacking in force along virtually the whole front from the Oise to the Marne. Desperate fighting developed in many points on this front, the night attack resulting in the enemy making advances at a few points, notably in the region southwest of Soissons, where he is trying to batter his way into the French line.

Perance was lost by French in this area and they had to give a little ground further south. The German attack was held elsewhere.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I had a party last night and my dearest friend to whom I am engaged talked to me and did not pay very much attention to me. The girl lives next door to me and is a very good friend.

He asked me if I could take her home and I said he might. She told him she was not going with him and she slipped out and left him. He stayed here until 11:30 p. m. and asked me not to be angry because he just asked her for the sake of courtesy.

I saw him up town and I asked him to walk down the street with me. He took two or three steps with me and stopped and said I should go home. I told him I had to go to dinner. I love him and he says that he loves me more than he does anyone in the world. Why did he act that way? Do you think he loves me?

LITTLE MUTE.
If the boy says he loves you he probably does it as a joke. I thought that the boy could not take her home. You are fortunate in having so true a friend. So just as generally you tell your girl friend that you love her to prevent the boy from liking her if he chooses. It may be that the boy showed an interest in the other girl because he is tired of going out with you. If he is tired of you you should let him enjoy other girls for a while. But if he is so certain in his love and you have reason to think he cares for you, someone else than he does you, you should break your engagement.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have a friend who would like to stop smoking. He has tried (has) to stop it but can't. Can you suggest a way?

He cannot stop without using will power. If he wants to stop badly enough he will conquer his desire. Some men who are trying to break away from the habit keep a little flag in their pockets to chew when they think they cannot stand it longer without a smoke. Others chew gum.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have a boy friend whom I have been going with for a year who graduates this year. He has sent me an announcement and I would like to give him some remembrance. Will you please suggest something inexpensive?

SARAH.
Give him a book or something in leather or metal for a desk.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of seventeen years. When I am on the street the men watch me very closely. It is very disgusting. Could you suggest anything that might help me? I am not very attractive and I do not wear bright colors. DOT.
You look at the men and so they look at you. If you walk along the street feeling that they are looking at you, they will be. If you are entirely different to them.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a boy nineteen years of age and have two brothers in the service. I would be in the service only I cannot pass a physical examination. Could I enter some non-combatant branch of the service? ANXIOUS.
Enquire of a civil service board. If you can pass a civil service examination you can serve in the capacity of a clerk or in any other line for which you are particularly fitted.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: What is good to kill dandruff? CLAUDE.
The night before washing the hair scrub the scalp with red vaseline. Usually after three or four treatments the trouble disappears. If you have a stubborn dandruff apply a small amount of vaseline to the scalp once a day.

Observations of a War Horse

My Dear Niece:
The Massachusetts legislature is reported to be considering ways and means of breaking up the hat check robbery. So far so good. More power to them. I hope the reform sweeps the country, and when they are through with the hat check robbers I want to recommend the millinery business at large as a profitable subject for government investigation.

Honestly, if hats were made of wheat products or bacon they could hardly be more altitudinous in price, and won't to the critics who lift a profane voice against the graft.

This is expert evidence. I am hatless and duly chastened, and all because of Willie's desire to be nice to Alberta and her fiancé.

My dear nephew, recently parted with his appendix, in consequence of which Willie found himself in possession of some unused change; so he decided to give a breakfast to the hat check robbers. He insisted that everybody must have a hat on, and I overhauled my wardrobe to find a suitable wedding garment. Finally fastening my voice on a gown of blue cloth touched up with orange. It is simple and becoming and I love it because it gives me an opportunity to enjoy a string of ivory affairs that, once belonged to a mandarin's wife. They were given me by a boy who got them in Pekin during the Boxer uprising, and they lent the costume a touch of elegance.

Having noted a number of hats in the store windows that rejoiced in peace-time trimmings, I went forth hopefully to add one to my possessions. "Peacock blue, madame? Surely, yes, this way. Here is a wonder and so reasonable, only $17.50 today—marked down from $25."

"Hat," I protested, "I want a reasonable hat—and I object to pink roses and white daisies on peacock blue."

"Object?" the clerk was amazed. "Why, that is a French model, the latest thing."

"Then give me antiquity. I want a simple black hat with peacock blue trimmings and becoming lines—that one has a pink top and it's all shiny like a motor car."

"Hat, madame, the elegance of it. These flowers are hand embroidered and you are a woman of an exclusive taste; not to appropriate an exclusive hat could not afford to wear a cheap hat, madame. This is a special offer, only $15. All hats are shiny this season."

I took it off and resumed my old velvet affair with the brief comment: "I could buy everything on that hat for 75 cents. It is pretty, but—"

"Thank you and good-bye," said the girl's face clouded and I moved up to a shop in the middle of the next block. A red-haired vision in a black satin gown demanded my business and I humbly asked to be

On Little Girl, Got So Bad Could Not Rest at Night. Very Cross and Fretful.

Trouble Lasted Two Months. One Cake Cuticura Soap and Box Ointment Healed.

"Our little girl had eczema over her body. It started on the back of her neck in the form of a rash, and kept spreading until it got on her head. It got so bad that she could not rest at night from the itching and burning, and she would scratch so that the skin became inflamed. It caused her to be very cross and fretful."

"The trouble lasted about two months. After using one cake of Cuticura Soap with one box of Ointment she was healed." (Signed) Geo. Col-linson, 306 W. Winfield St., Morrison, Ill., August 8, 1917.

Tomato London Cakes (from above recipe). Three cups tomato sauce, about four cups soft bread crumbs, one tablespoonful fat, two teaspoons salt, pepper and paprika to taste.

Strain the tomato, and put pulp part in steppan. Place over fire, and when heated through, stir in many bread crumbs as the tomato will absorb. Add the butter, salt and other seasonings. Remove from fire, and allow to cool. Form into balls, and serve with tomato sauce made as follows:

One cupful tomato juice, one tablespoonful flour, one tablespoonful fat, salt.

Melt the fat, and add the flour gradually. Cook until it begins to bubble. Add the tomato juice, a little at a time, stirring constantly until thickened. Season to taste.

Potato and Beef Pie (from above menu).—Fill the warm pie pan with mashed potatoes, crimp edges and brush with egg. Brown in oven. Fill with chopped beef with heavy cream sauce. Reheat and serve immediately.

Caramel Sauce—One tablespoon butter, one cup brown sugar, one scant cup water. Melt butter in small kettle, thicken with the flour as for gravies, add sugar and water.

Boil until thick as you like; take from fire and flavor with vanilla. This will make the plainest of bread puddings simply delicious.

Genus for Children.—These gems are especially good for the children. Use one cup milk, one cup sour milk. Let this soak fifteen minutes. Add one egg, one-half cup barley flour, one teaspoon of soda dissolved in a little water. Bake in gem tins. Makes eight.

WHEATLESS CAKES.

Cream fat, sugar and egg yolks. Add syrup and mix well. Add ingredients sifted together. Add flavoring and fold in well-beaten egg whites. Bake one hour in moderate oven. After five minutes raise temperature to hot oven.

The Daily Novelette.
THE UNDERWORLD.
For many days Hiram Jessup of Jessup's Cut had been preparing for his first visit to New York. He purchased at Lemuel Slemmer's, a small store, three red-polka-dotted handkerchiefs, a stylish pair of yellow shoes with nice, big lumps on the toes, a pair of bright, blue trousers and a flaring straw picture hat.

The whole village knew about Hy's trip so when the time came for him to depart he was the subject of much comment. Everybody and every body asked him to send picture postcards and bring souvenirs home. So Hy felt very important and proud.

On the way to the Great City, Hiram Jessup rode in quiet joy and looked forward to feeling at home in the great city of Liberty and Brooklyn Bridge, the tall, heaven-pointed Flatiron Building and the Woolworth Building, the funny-shaped Flatiron Building and the Woolworth Building. Of course, it was costing a wallof of money, fifty for the day's trip, but look what he would see—and think what he could bring back to the folks at home.

All the rest of the Jessup Cuttings who had ever gone to New York had never come back, so he was the only man to relate these things to his home. "Howdy," Mebbe he'd sight a submarine or airplane, while he was going over on the ferryboat, mabbe.

When Hiram J. hit New York, he didn't get there by way of ferryboat, for he unfortunately had gotten on the tunnel train, and got stuck in the tunnel. So he failed to see the famous statue and bridge that he had hopes of catching a fish or two from. Finally, his suspicious aroused, Hy asked his neighbor where these things were and the man said it was too bad but he was under the river and not over the top, so he volunteered to tell Hy just where each stop was.

"See over there to your right, about a mile, well the Statue of Liberty stands over there—she got stuck in her hands. Then about a mile further than that to your right, is where Brooklyn Bridge hangs over. Are you on?"

"I'm holdin' on, if that's what you mean," says Hy.

After his chance acquaintance left him in the Terminal, Hy said to himself that he'd see the business and the boarders anyway, so with renewed faith he boarded another train and sat back awaiting developments. Which came soon enough, for to his great dismay, this train, too, rushed underground.

"Say, mister!" shouted Hy to the man next to him, "No thought of going to the top of the earth? Why, down here it, the hull deep place is sunk. I thought them gosh-big buildings was too heavy for it!"

And this man too offered to show Hy the place where each building stood. "Look! See them four sticks over there? Well, the Flatiron Building rests on them. See them six posts over there? That's where the Woolworth Building stands. Then there's the—"

But here the man's station was called and he got off, leaving Hy pondering on all this information, and wondering if he was to be able to get the overhead trains, so he went there and came home in the dark.

Four months later we see Hiram Jessup back in Jessup's Cut and still nobody has ever heard him say one word of his trip to New York and his adventures, some funny and some sad, every Jessup-cut son of them cut trying to find out.

If you had a million dollars can you imagine selling your self respect, your honor and your hopes of Heaven for another million?

Sounds absurd, doesn't it? Surely anyone could make shift on a million. It was Hill, wasn't it who said a man could have everything he could really use on twelve thousand a year. And a million brings in much more than that.

No Explanation But Some Kind Of Insanity.
For a man who has struggled along all his life in deadly just-keeping-his-head-above-water poverty to be weak enough to give up his honor for the transformed, and glorified existence that a million brings in, is not a man who seems so extraordinary. But for those who already have all the riches anyone could really use to go so far after more that they will do unseemable things to get them seems to me inexplicable on any grounds but insanity. It seems to me that such people need to be confined in asylums far more than half the millionaires with their delusions, whom we are careful to segregate.

Perhaps you wonder what started this trade?

Four What Shall It Profit A Man If—
This paragraph in a newspaper "As a result of charges made by the

The Real Maniacs.
Socialist newspaper Vorwaerts, it was shown that the Krupps, in order to increase their tremendous annual sales to the German government, made certain French newspapers to make attacks upon Germany, hinting at a war in the near future. These Krupp organs in Germany, were used to prove that France meant mischief and that the German army must increase its purchases of cannon and munitions in which the Krupps had practically a monopoly."

In that same paper was a statement that when Friedrich Krupp died, leaving his fortune to Bertine Krupp, he had an income of five million a year.

The Man Who Thinks He Is a Poached Egg Compared to a Poached Egg.
And yet he or Bertha Krupp (I don't know under which the thing was done) was willing to increase the likelihood of war and put a tremendous burden on the German people to make more money!

If we have not room in our asylums for all who belong there, would it not be better to restrain such people as these and let the individual who thinks he is a poached egg and wants a piece of toast to sit on, go free? Surely humanity in general would be saved more misery that way.

RETAIL VERSUS WHOLESALE TOOTH EXTRACTION.
It has been some time since we have had a vexed question of septic foot in the mouth as a cause of paint disease. It got so that every time we mentioned this subject, our readers wrote in deploring the misadventure in having submitted to the extraction of a set of perfectly good looking teeth that X-ray pictures had proved infected. Unfortunately for the local theory, many of these pessimists are really entitled to their pessimism, for they go home with three red-polka-dotted handkerchiefs, a stylish pair of yellow shoes with nice, big lumps on the toes, a pair of bright, blue trousers and a flaring straw picture hat.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE.
One need not monopolize the conversation, unless he wishes to will for himself the name of bore, and to be avoided as such.

BECAUTIFUL. You are doing as a great many other foolish girls do: wondering whether Mr. C. is really serious, when he drops in rather informally at different times to visit with your family. It is a good opportunity to say that there is room for a great deal of delightful friendship between girls and young men without any idea of serious plans coming up. Just extract all the pleasure from your friendship you may, and do like the Southern girl do, take for granted the devotion of all your young men friends, and let no one in particular be too sure of you until you engage yourself.

MISS B. When one is invited to a card party, and one neither plays or cares for the game, the most gracious thing to do is to write a personal note with this explanation, "My dear Mr. Grey: It was very kind of you to invite me to your card party, but unfortunately I am one of those unusual people who do not play, and for that reason I would not want to spoil the pleasure of those who do play. With many regrets, very cordially yours, Marion Woods."

BEAUTIFUL. Readers to the skin a delicately clear, soft, smooth complexion. Brings back the lost smoothness of youth. Remains as fresh and constant.

ANSWER.—Your letter illustrates a common fault. Why didn't you specify the occupation? Your trouble may be occupational neuritis or cramp, like writer's cramp. Possibly it is chronic lead poisoning. It isn't anything like neuritis. Lead poisoning occurs when there is no obvious exposure to lead. A possibility is an atrophic lateral sclerosis (progressive muscular atrophy). You should see your doctor for council with a neurologist.

PETEY DINK—NOW MABEL CAN ARREST HIM FOR ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

RED BLOODED MEN FIGHTERS

THEY RULE THE WORLD

Red blooded men are born leaders in every walk of life and fight intelligently with both brain and muscles. They are always live wires, linking and full of ginger; alert on their toes and ready for anything that comes their way. Work is a pleasure and they land on top every time.

You will not find a strong successful man or woman trying to plug along with poor health or weak nerves. They know better, they are wise and see to it that their blood has plenty of good fresh iron and their nerves are always loaded with phosphates—the nerve food.

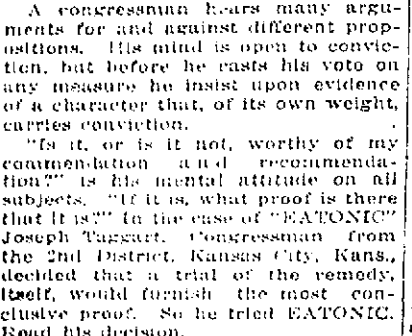

A leading doctor says, "Show me a strong, healthy successful man or woman and you can bank on it every time, their bodies are just loaded with iron and phosphates." Another prominent physician says, "There is no need of anyone going through life sickly, miserably, and out of kilter, and nervous when phosphated from within always put energy and vigor in the body, mind and nerves." This same doctor also said, "With the system loaded with phosphated iron you can fight life's battle at any stage of the game and be a winner at every turn."

Mr. Run Down man or woman in any stage of life, if you feel all your nerves are all shot, and life seems like a continual drag, get next to yourself, wake up, take a brace, lay in a supply of Phosphated Iron and take a new lease on life. You will once again feel like a live one and face the world with the smile that wins. Are you game?

To insure physicians and their patients receiving the genuine Phosphated Iron, it has been put up in capsules only, so do not allow dealers to give you tablets or pills. Insist on capsules—Smith Drug Co., and leading druggists everywhere.

Joseph Taggart, M. C. from Kansas, Declares EATONIC Best for Indigestion He Ever Used

HON. JOSEPH TAGGART, M. C.

A congressman hears many arguments for and against different propositions. His mind is open to conviction, but before he casts his vote on any measure he insists upon evidence of a character that is of his own weight, carries conviction.

"Is it, or is it not, worthy of my commendation and recommendation?" is his mental attitude on all subjects. "If it is, what proof is there that it is?" In the case of "EATONIC" Joseph Taggart, congressman from the 2nd District, Kansas City, Kans., decided that a trial of the remedy, itself, would furnish the most conclusive proof. So he tried EATONIC. Read his decision.

"One box of EATONIC will convince the most skeptical. It is the best remedy I have ever tried for indigestion. Respectfully, Joseph Taggart, M. C. 2nd Kansas District, Kansas City, Kansas.

There's no excuse for you suffering from stomach misery a day longer. Nearly all stomach trouble is caused by too much acid in the stomach. EATONIC neutralizes this excess acidity and quickly banishes all pain and discomfort. It enables you to eat what you like and digest what you eat in comfort. It keeps the stomach in a state of perfect health. Try it for yourself and be convinced.

Here's the secret: EATONIC drives the gas out of the body and the bloated goes with it. Costs only a cent or two a day to use it. Guaranteed to bring relief or money back. Get a box today from your druggist.

The Light in the Clearing

A TALE OF THE NORTH COUNTRY IN THE TIME OF SILAS WRIGHT.

By IRVING BACHELLER

Author of Eden Holden, Etc.

Copyright, '17, The Bobbs-Merrill Co.

I know, now, how dearly Aunt Deel loved her brother and me. I must have been a great trial to that woman of forty unsmiling to the pranks of childhood and the tender offices of a mother. Naturally I turned from her to my Uncle Peabody as a refuge and a help in time of trouble with increasing fondness. He had no knitting or sewing to do when Uncle Peabody sat in the house he gave all his attention to me and we weathered many a storm together as we sat silently in his favorite corner, of an evening, while I always went to sleep in his arms.

He and I slept in the little room upstairs, "under the shingles"—as Uncle used to say. In a small bed, and he and I were the only ones who had the receiver of so much violence. So I gave her only a qualified affection until I could see beneath the words and the face and the correcting hand of my Aunt Deel.

Uncle made up the beds in our room. Often his own bed would go unmade. My Aunt would upbraid him for laziness, whereupon he would say that when he got up he liked the feel of that bed so much that he wanted to begin next night right where he had left off. When Uncle Peabody gave me the watermelon seeds, I put one of them in my mouth and bit it.

It appears to me there's an awful draft blowing down your throat," said Uncle Peabody. "You ain't no business eatin' a melon seed."

"Why?" was my query.

"Cause it was made to put in the ground. Didn't you know it was alive?"

"Alive?" I exclaimed.

"Put a saucer of the seeds in the ground and covered them, and said that that part of the garden should be mine. I watched it every day and by and by two vines came up. One tickled and died in dry weather. Uncle Peabody said that I must water the other every day. I did it faithfully and the vine thrived."

"The same thing that makes you grow," said Uncle Peabody. "You can do lots of things but there's just one thing that a watermelon needs to grow. See how it reaches out toward the sunlight! If I was to pull them vines around and try to make 'em grow toward the north they wouldn't make it. They'd creep back and go reaching toward the sunlight again just as if they had a compass to show 'em the way."

"It was hard work, I thought, to go down into the garden at night and morning with my little pail full of water, but Uncle said that I should get my pay when the melon was ripe. I had also to keep the worms box full and feed the chickens. They were tedious tasks. When I asked Aunt Deel what I should get for doing them she answered quickly:

"Nosparks and bread and butter—"

When I asked what were "nosparks" she told me that they were part of the wages of a good child. It was better pay for my care than the watermelon vine for its growth was measured with a string every day and kept me interested. One morning I found five blossoms on it. I picked one and cut it to Aunt Deel. Another I destroyed in the tragedy of catching a tumblebug which had crawled into its cup. In due time there were six big watermelons. I picked two of them. One I tasted and threw away as I ran to the pump for relief. The other I hurled at a dog on my way to school.

"But it was my melon," I said with a trembling voice.

"Yes and I vum it's too bad! But, Bart, you ain't learned yit that them wicked people in the world who are wicked and take what don't belong to 'em."

There were tears in my eyes when I asked, "Will it bring it back, won't they?"

"Never!" said Uncle Peabody. "I'm afraid they've let it up."

He had no sooner said that a cry broke from my lips and I sank down upon the grass weeping and sobbing. I lay amidst the ruins of the simple faith of childhood. It was as if the world and all its joys had come to an end.

"You can't blame the boy," I heard Uncle Peabody saying. "He's fussed with that melon all summer. He wanted to give it to you for a present."

"Ayes so he did! Well I declare! I never thought of that—ayes!"

Aunt Deel spoke in a low, kindly tone and came and lifted me to my feet very tenderly.

"Come, Bart, don't feel so about that old melon," said she, "it ain't worth it. Come with me, 'im goin' to give you a present—ayes! I be!"

I was still crying when she took me to her trunk, and offered the grateful assuagement of candy and a belt, all embroidered with blue and white beads.

"Now you see, Bart, how low and mean anybody is that takes what don't belong to 'em—ayes! They're snakes! Everybody hates 'em and stamps on 'em when they come in sight—ayes!"

The abomination of the Lord was in her look and manner. How it shook me! He who had taken from me something I was never to have again, and a very wonderful thing it was—faith in the goodness of men, had committed its first offense against me and my spirit was no longer the white and beautiful thing it had been. Still, there is the beginning of wisdom, I thank God for the great harvest of this lost watermelon. Better things had come in its place, and I understood what was often I understand that sudden revelation of the heart of childhood had lifted my spirit and opened its door for me.

In the afternoon she sent me over to Wills' to borrow a little tea. I stopped for a few minutes and was older than I. While playing there I discovered a piece of the rind of my melon in the dooryard. On that piece of rind I saw the cross which I had made one day with my thumb-nail. It was intended to indicate that the melon was solely and wholly mine. I felt a flush of anger.

"I hate you," I said as I approached him.

"I hate you," he answered.

"You're a snake!" I said.

We now stood, face to face and breast to breast like a pair of young roosters. He gave me a shove and told me to go home. I gave him a shove and told him to go home. He gave me a shove and told him to go home. We glared into each other's eyes. Suddenly he spat in my face. I gave him a scratch on the forehead with my finger-nail. Then we fell full on each other and rolled on the ground and hit and scratched with feline ferocity.

seen me coming "a long way off" and shouted:

"Well here ye be—I was kind o' worried 'bout you."

Then his eye caught the look of dejection in my gait and figure. He hurried toward me. He stopped as I came sobbing to his feet.

"What's the matter?" he asked gently, as he took the tea cup from my hand, and sat down upon his heels.

I should only fall into his arms and express myself in the grief of childhood. He hugged me close and begged me to tell him what was the matter.

"That Wills boy stole my melon," I said, and the words came out slow with sobs.

"Oh, no he didn't," said Uncle Peabody. "Yes he did. I saw a piece of the rind."

"Well by—," said Uncle Peabody, stopping as usual, at the edge of the precipice.

"He's a snake," I added.

"And you fit and he scratched you up that way?"

"Scratched him, too."

"Don't you say a word about it to Aunt Deel. Don't ever speak of that miserable melon again to anybody. You scout around to the barn, and I'll be there in a minute and fix ye up."

He went by the road with the tea and I ran around to the lane and up to the stable. Uncle Peabody met me there in a moment and brought a pail of water and washed my face so that I felt and looked more respectable.

"If Aunt Deel asks ye about them scratches, just tell her that you and Hen had a little disagreement," said my uncle.

She didn't ask me, probably because Uncle Peabody had explained in his own way, and requested her to say nothing.

The worst was over for that day but the Baynes-Wills feud had begun. It led to many a fight in the school yard and on the way home. We were so evenly matched that our quarrel went on for a long time and gathered intensity as it continued.

One day Uncle Peabody had given me an egg and said that there was a chicken in it.

All ye have to do to it to keep it warm and the chicken will come to life, and when the hen is of the rest some day it will see light through the shell and peck its way out," he explained.

He marked my initials on the egg and put it under a hen and by and by a little chicken came out of the shell. I held it in my palm—a quivering, warm handful of yellow down. Henry Wills came over to me and red it and watched it every day.

Later my uncle told me it was a hen chick and would be laying eggs in four months. He added:

"If I can't do it, you can, an' if it's let alone it'll be sure to do it. Follows a sort of a compass that leads to the nest every time."

This chicken grew into a little spotted hen. She became my sole companion in many a lone hour when Uncle Peabody had gone to the village, or was working in wet ground.

She was like a great many things on the farm—of great but unconsidered beauty. Her body and her machine where I couldn't be with him. She was an amiable, confiding little hen who put her trust in me and kept it unto the day of her death, which came not until she had reached the full dignity of mature henhood.

Dinner Stories

"I have come here," said the angry man to the superintendent of the street car line, "to get justice; justice, sir. Yesterday, as my wife was getting off one of your cars the conductor stepped on her dress and tore a yard of frilling off the skirt."

The superintendent remained cool. "Well, sir," he said, "I don't know that we are to blame for that. What do you expect us to do? Get her a new dress?"

"No, sir, I do not intend to let you off so easily as that. What I propose to have you do," he said, "is to match this silk."

The American in England affords cause for much perplexity and astonishment to his English kinsmen.

A Yankee soldier was being shown over an old church where hundreds of people were buried.

"A great many people sleep between these walls," said the guide, indicating the inscription-covered floor with a sweep of his hand.

"So?" said the Sammy. "Same way over in our country. Why don't you get a more interesting preacher?"

"Shut that door!" yelled the rough man. "Where were you raised—in a barn?"

The man addressed me mildly and silently complied, but the speaker observed that he was in tears. Going over to his victim he apologized. "Oh, come," he said, "soberly."

"You shouldn't take it to heart because I

Advertise— and You Will Grow!

The place of advertising in the world is secure.

No man in business can get far without it.

Manufacturers, corporations and governments are getting to be as well sold on the advertising idea as the merchants. Advertising is as big a factor in the SELLING of things as machinery is in the MAKING of things.

Were all advertising in this country to STOP, the prodigious FACTORY output would gradually SLOW DOWN, and millions of workers would be idle. Advertising educates people to new standards and makes them want improvements.

The hundred million Americans are the most rapacious consumers on earth. They live better than any other race of people, and think they need more things to make them comfortable than any other people. The reason for this is that Americans are ad-readers.

Twenty years ago the TELEPHONE was largely a BUSINESS convenience. Comparatively few average residences had an instrument in the HOUSE. Advertising has educated the public to the idea that the telephone is indispensable, and only here and there can you now find an American family without a telephone.

The PHONOGRAPH is a modern invention. Only here and there would you find a family provided with a phonograph ten years ago. Today they are everywhere—and the advertising has educated communities up to them.

They say there are some twelve or more mountains in Colorado that are HIGHER than Pike's Peak. The great majority of people do not know that there IS another mountain in Colorado, because Pike's Peak, by means of the ad, has been made to loom large in the public mind, and it is possible by means of the ad to accomplish the same result for a business or a manufactured product.

Advertise in the newspapers and live up to the advertising.

If you DESERVE to LIVE and FLOURISH— YOU WILL!
